Subject: Settlement

Gentlemen,

Microsoft was a monopoly , is still a monopoly and based on the settlement, will continue to be a monopoly.

Microsoft does not follow most standards but leaves things out or adds a twist to make itself and other systems partially incompatible.

Through software changes and bundling they have driven out most of the competition.

Computer systems have been my career for over 25 years. I believe the operating system should be separated from the applications. As long as the operating system and applications come from the same company, Microsoft will be a monopoly.

Thank you
