[illegible] Hesse:

[illegible] add my comments, regarding the proposed settlement in the [illegible]uit.

[illegible] appears that our economy is either in a recession or quickly [illegible] direction. Consumer spending and consumer confidence is [illegible] thing we should not be doing right now is putting [illegible] the way of American industry.

[illegible] America's Hi-tech industry has been able to prosper and [illegible] needed jobs, because they are innovative and competitive. [illegible] need right now is government interference, over regulation [illegible] to spend money on lawsuits. That money could be better [illegible] new products.

[illegible]ducts would benefit American consumers in two ways. They [illegible] more productive thereby helping the economy. More [illegible] would create new jobs in the computer sector and help us end [illegible]

[illegible]ck end to the lawsuits. Let's get America back to work.

Sincerely,

Dennis Newman
