

From: Steve Jencks
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 11/20/01 3:42pm
Subject: Travesty of a corporate monopoly

Dear Sir or Miss,

Please consider that the Microsoft penalties as currently listed in the settlement are a weak slap on the wrist at best. Microsoft continues to have the power and ability to control much of the technology world and seeks to control the access of information and services with it's .Net initiative. I'm afraid that the DOJ will find too late that Microsoft will become bigger than government influence can contain and will stronghold the technology companies to whatever suits it's needs.

-Steve Jencks

East Lansing, MI