Ms Hesse:

I would like to express my opposition to the proposed settlement in the Microsoft Antitrust case. I believe that the offense against the American version of doing business and against the American people is far too great for the DoJ to treat it in this fashion. I believe that the points raised by the Attorneys General of the various dissenting states are far more pertinent than those of the DoJ.

While the Court of Appeals vacated a portion of the original judgment, they retained all the conclusions relating to Microsoft's exclusionary and anti-competitive acts. I believe the proposed settlement treats these acts too lightly.

Sincerely,
Peter H. Salus, Ph.D.
