Microsoft's competitors are wishing that they had and trying to create ground to stand on by politically pressing on thru their host state's attorney generals with this litigation that claims that Microsoft is a Monopoly. But the fact remains that if you ask these companies who their number one competitor is - they will tell you Microsoft. Not because Microsoft is a monopoly but because Microsoft can do it all - on any device, any time, and anywhere. The lawsuit should not proceed any further against Microsoft to pad the pockets of Microsoft's competitors.
