Sirs,

For what it is worth, the prosecution of Microsoft was simply a political extortion game. The government attorneys' goal has never been justice or to make things better for customers of Microsoft, it has simply been a vendetta against the most successful company in the technological arena.

Liberals have to scheme up these things from time to time to justify their hatred of capitalism. Since private lawyers will get another unprecedented windfall from this settlement (like the tobacco, asbestos and breast implant settlements/extortions)I suppose even the liberals will be happy with the outcome. Because, no doubt substantial funds from the lawyers' settlement monies will find their way to Democratic politicians who will further their liberal interests.

Is there anyone, anywhere, who seriously thinks this lawsuit has done anything but enrich lawyers?

What a waste. Please simply end it.

Sincerely,

Joe Glandorf
