Subject: Microsoft Settlement

I would like to voice my dissatisfaction with the proposed settlement with Microsoft. It does not enforce any limitations on its bundling practices. With their next big strategy to take over the home electronics market (digital entertainment systems, etc.) it's vitally important that Microsoft not be allowed to continue its very effective bundling strategy. They must at least be split into an Operating system company and an applications company - that would really level the playing field.

Sincerely,
David Finkbeiner, a US Citizen
