

From: David Groom
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 1/26/02 2:55am
Subject: Microsoft Settlement

Good People,

Microsoft has been a champion of ensuring consumers benefit from low cost and high volume economics of the PC market. In college, I remember that Apple computers were nearly double the cost of a PC and of course systems from the likes of Sun Microsystems have only been accessible to pocket books of big corporations. Microsoft's success in building popular products at reasonable prices is the obvious reasons for the size of its market share.

On the other hand, it is disconcerting that the antitrust trial has drug on so long only to favor the likes of big corporations like AOL, Sun, and Oracle. It is sad to see an American company which has brought such consumer benefit, held back for the welfare of corporations like AOL and Sun.

Let Microsoft compete freely. Let the market place decide which products should win.

Regards,
David Groom

Get your FREE download of MSN Explorer at <http://explorer.msn.com/intl.asp>.