

From: Bikermandav48@aol.com@inetgw
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 1/28/02 12:18am
Subject: Microsoft vs Netscape Opinions

Dear the Department of Justice:

Hello, I am from California, and am in the eight grade, and I have a few issues to discuss about the way Microsoft is handling this current case. Right now, Microsoft has made many illegal moves that are all punishable because they are against certain laws set forth in the late 1800's and early 1900's. For example, the Sherman Anti- trust act started a movement to protect the smaller companies. Microsoft has disobeyed, and they monopolized, and are taking advantage of Netscape, which is backed by and even bigger company, AOL Time Warner. The first trial that Microsoft was tried on was very similar to this one. Netscape is suing, because Microsoft Internet Explorer covers 90% of the Internet Market Share, and the government wants to give an equal percentage of the Internet Market Share to smaller companies like Netscape and AOL. Microsoft is also tried for bundling software in PC'S, which is also illegal. Microsoft should also pay heavy fines for violating anti-trust laws. Therefore, Microsoft rightfully should get this punishment that will come, because it does not give smaller companies a chance.

From:
David Yao