Dear Ms. Hesse:

As a co-owner of medium size construction company in central Missouri, I have observed the Microsoft lawsuit from the beginning. It appears to me from the press that this case has come full circle and now is the time settle. Based upon my review of the summary of the lawsuit it would appear that the Department of Justice has garnered a fair compromise with Microsoft. While I cannot specifically defend the software giant's business practices, I remain skeptical that this case should have been dismissed some time ago.

Now is the time to settle the case against Microsoft.
Thank for allowing me to offer my opinion.

Sincerely,

Chris Hentges
